Drug Store Conundrums

Is there any sense paying more for your Drugs than we charge?

We do not think there is
—we buy the best qualities
the markets afford in Drugs and Drug Sundries and we buy in such quantities that we get the very best possible prices. Any one may buy the same qualities we do, but it takes a big business to handle big quantities—our big trade is recognized.

The Results of Idleness—

The odium which rests upon the work of the hand has exerted a baneful influence, not only in Hickman, but the world around. The theory that idleness is more honorable than toil, that it is more respectable to consume what others have produced than to be a producer of wealth ourselves, has not only robbed society of an enormous sum but it has created an almost impassable gulf between the leisure classes and those who support them. Because some imagine themselves above work, while others see before them nothing but a life of drudgery, there is constant warring and much bitterness. When men and women become ashamed of doing nothing and strive to give society full compensation for all they receive from society, there will be harmony between the classes, and not until then.

We must fully learn the lesson that employment at some useful vocation is essential to the physical health, intellectual development, and moral growth. We ought to be prepared to present in the lives of our children, examples increasing in number, of men and women who find delight in contributing to the welfare of their fellow beings, and this ought not to be difficult, for every department of human activity has a fascination of its own.

A Day in June—

Just a tiny patch of moonlight,
Just a summer night in June;
Just a hammock, a piazza,
Just a dreamy distant tune,
Just a cuddly girl beside you,
Just an arm around her waist,
Just a pressure tight of two lips,
Just a parting made in haste,
Why are lovers all molested
Just at moments just like this?
Why are unjust people passing
Just in time to see that kiss?

Verdict is Set Aside.

The court of appeals last week reversed the Fulton circuit court in the case of Artie Dupree against the I.
C. railroad company, holding that on the trial the judge should have given peremptory instructions to the jury to find for the railroad.

On the trial of the case the jury gave a verdict for $2,000 in favor of the little girl, who was run over at a railroad crossing in Fulton and both her feet cut off. She is the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bee Dupree, of Columbus, and this action of the court of appeals will operate to deprive her or them of any compensation for the child's terrible injury.

From Chicken to Pie—

The picnic last Friday given by the members of the Baptist church to their members and those of the Presbyterian church was enjoyed by a large crowd, at Sulphur Springs Park.
Swings and games were enjoyed by the young folks. The dinner prepared for the occasion by the good ladies cannot be described—it ran the scale from fried chicken to mince pie.
About three in the afternoon, cream and cake were served.

AFTER - THOUGHTS

On Many Different Subjects

Are Raising Better Stock—

There is a growing disposition among the farmers of Fulton county to raise a better grade of live stock of all kinds—horses, cattle, mules, hogs, sheep and even poultry—which means much for the future prosperity of the county.

An Expensive Judiciary—

The State's judiciary seems to be going backward instead of forward.
The legislature at its last session saw fit to increase the salaries of circuit judges, $1,200, notwithstanding it is in spirit, if not in letter, in violation of the constitution. This was done, it is said, in order to get better materi' for circuit judges, and also to allow them to live in that kind of style necessary for men of their position.

This $1,200 increase per annum, added to the $3,000, the original salary, brings them up to $4,200. The people will not have any better judges at $4,200 a year than they have had at $3,000. Besides the taxpayers of the State will be called upon to pay many thousands of dollars for these salary increases without receiving any benefits.

Little Margie's Slang—

Slang is tabooed in the home of a West Hickman family principally because there is a bright little girl who displays a persistent aptitude in retaining expressive but slang phrases.

The other evening at supper, the mother, father and daughter drifted into the vernacular and a fresh start was necessary. The little girl started it. "I'm certainly not struck on this bread," she remarked.

"Margie," said her mother, "you want to cut that slang out."

"That's a peach of a way to correct the child," commented the father.

"I know," replied the mother, "but I just wanted to put her wise."

Editors Awful Liars—

A preacher said: "You editors dare not tell the truth, your newspaper would fail."

The editor replied: "You are right —and the minister, who will at all times, tell the truth about his members, living or dead, will not occupy a Hickman pulpit more than one Sunday, and will find it necessary to get out of town in a hurry. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand with white-wash and kind words—magnifying small virtues into larger ones. The pulpit, press and gravestones are the great saint-making Triumvirate."

The good minister went away looking very thoughtful, while ye editor turned to his work, telling about the surpassing beauty of the bride, when in fact she was as homely as the Mc Cutcheon Row.

Reason For Raising Rates—

Railroads are forced to increase their freight rates on account of wages, prices of materials, taxes and damage suits. All of these things contribute to the increase of freight rates, all of which must come out of the consumer after all.

Johnson Tops St. Louis Market—

From the St. Louis Live Stock Reporter, May 27, we clip the following:
"H. P. Johnson, a well known stock man and regular patron of this market from Hickman, Ky., was on the market with a load of sheep including 86 head of spring lambs that averaged 69 pounds and sold at $9.50. These lambs not only sold at the top of today's market but they brought more than any lambs from Kentucky in several weeks."

Mr. Johnson has shipped 11 cars of stock during the month of May.
The prevailing high prices, he says, are causing a renewed interest in the live stock industry of Fulton county.

This Hour of Fragrance—

I feel in myself the future life. I am like a forrest once cut down, the new shoots are stronger and livelier than ever. I am rising, I know, toward the sky. The sunshine is on my head. The earth gives me its generous sap, but heaven lights me with the reflection of unknown worlds.
You say that the soul is nothing but the resultant of the bodily powers.
Why, then, is my soul more luminous
when my bodily powers begin to fail?
Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart. I breathe at this hour the fragrance of the lilacs, the violets and the roses, as at twenty years. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear round me the immortal symphonies of the worlds which invite me. It is marvelous, yet simple. It is a fairy tale, and it is history. For a half century I've been writing my thoughts in prose and in verse; history, philosophy, drama, romance, traditions, satire, ode and song. I have tried all. But I feel I have not said the thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave I can say like many others: "I have finished my day's work." But I cannot say: "I have finished my life." My day's work will begin the next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight; it opens on the dawn.—Victor Hugo.

Worrying About the Future—

Some cheerful idiot is now harras-sing the public mind by present scientific calculations to prove that the comet will strike mother earth upon its return visit seventy-five years hence.

THE PRESIDENT'S FORTHCOMING VACATION

BY WALDON FAWCETT

THE quaint little community of Beverly, Mass., is pretty certain to enjoy the distinction of ranking as the "summer capital" of the United States so long as William H. Taft is president. The Tafts chose the little seashore resort for a vacation retreat for the first summer of the present administration somewhat as an experiment. No member of the family had previously spent much time on the famed "North shore" of Massachusetts and consequently they were obliged to accept largely on hearsay its claims to pre-eminence as an ideal summer playground. However, after their first season at this pleasure domain the White House household was more than enthusiastic regarding the locality and forthwith decided to return there in future summers. Hence the action of the president in extending his lease on the cottage he occupies at Burgess Point.

For a decade and a half prior to the election of William H. Taft as president, the present occupants of the White House, together with the members of all the other branches of the very numerous Taft family, had been wont to gather each summer at Murray Bay, Ontario, a picturesque resort on the north bank of the St. Lawrence river. They have not, to this day, lost any of their affection for the hamlet that was so long the rendezvous of the Taft clan, but Murray Bay is, of course, in Canada, and the president is not supposed to go beyond the borders of the United States, even for a vacation. This put up to the president and the first lady of the land the problem of selecting a new summer domicile.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S FAVORITE MOTOR HIGHWAY

SUMMER HOME OF THE PRESIDENT

RESIDENCE OF JOHN HAY HAMMOND

That the North shore of Massachusetts was chosen was largely due to the influence of Miss Mabel Boardman, the well known Red Cross leader, and Mrs. Taft's closest personal friend. The Boardmans have long had a summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, which is but a few miles from Beverly and Miss Boardman, like her parents, is more than enthusiastic regarding this "summer colony belt." She accompanied Mrs. Taft on a house hunting expedition last spring, and was her chief adviser in the selection of the roomy frame cottage which was finally chosen as the "summer White House."

One factor in the satisfaction of the Tafts, and an influence in the decision to return to Beverly this summer, is found in the circumstance that this vacation retreat proved beneficial to Mrs. Taft. It may be remembered that Mrs. Taft broke down in health only a few weeks before the time set for the departure of the family for their summer home. When the physicians prescribed absolute quiet some of the friends of the mistress of the White House were dubious as to the effect of Beverly, for although the town is a quiet enough community, the whole North shore of Massachusetts is a very lively place socially in summer, even rivaling Newport in that respect, and the migration of a president to a summer resort is always followed by the transfer of many of the diplomatic establishments from Washington, to say nothing of the influx of ambitious social 1910 a much longer and more restful vacation than he was able to enjoy last year, when, it may be recalled, the extra session of congress and the fight over the tariff kept him in Washington until well into August. The president hopes to get to Beverly early in June, and with the exception of occasional trips, mostly to nearby points, will remain there throughout the heated term. A year ago the president planned to devote most of the summer of 1910 to a trip to Alaska—a journey that would have far surpassed in point of time consumed and number of miles traveled, the famous transcontinental

"swing around the circle" in which Taft indulged during the autumn of 1909. However, various influences, primarily the state of Mrs. Taft's health—have caused the president to abandon this Alaska trip, and he will rest quietly at Beverly save for visits to fairs, conventions, etc., none of which will consume more than a few days.

The president is planning a very busy and beneficial summer on the leaders so that a "summer capital" quickly springs into existence as a setting for a "summer White House."

However, all misgivings to the contrary, Mrs. Taft was enabled to enjoy a thoroughly quiet and restful summer at Beverly, and this program will be repeated this season, for the health of the first lady of the land continues anything but robust. The Taft cottage being located on a point of land and surrounded by water on three sides, is well located with reference to quiet, and also for the securing of the sea breezes which have proven Mrs. Taft's best tonic. On the land side the house is located only about a hundred yards from a trolley line, but it is well screened by trees, and the fact that the cottage may be approached by land from only one direction makes it a comparatively simple matter for the secret service men to intercept unwelcome callers.

President Taft has planned for the summer of golf links. The courses in the vicinity of Beverly include some of the finest and also some of the most difficult in the country, and the chief magistrate's summer program calls for three or four hours of golf every day. He will not lack for worthy partners and opponents either. His especial chum "Jack" Hammond and W. J. Boardman, have cottages nearby; his brother, C. P. Taft of Cincinnati, also a golfer, has leased a cottage on North shore, to be near his brother this summer, and he will also have with him Capt. Archibald Butt, who in addition to serving as the president's military aide can likewise always be drafted for a golf game. Next to golf the president takes delight in motoring on the magnificent roads of the North shore—perhaps the finest in America. Several of the White House automobiles are transferred to Beverly, and these place the president within easy reach of three or four different golf courses.

Where Men Fought and Fell

Spurred by the efforts of Miss Georgia Frazer a descendant of an old revolutionary family, and Charles M. Higgins, a wealthy manufacturer of Prospect Park West, Brooklyn, the city authorities are taking steps to acquire for the erection of a suitable monument and a children's playground the plot of ground covering two city blocks on which part of the battle of Long Island was fought in the Revolutionary war on August 27, 1776. The plot is located between Third and Fifth streets and Fourth and Fifth avenues, Brooklyn, and there are now only about ten houses on the entire plot, which is owned by the Litchfield estate. The rest of the land is vacant.

Directly behind the row of houses in Fifth avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, stands an old willow tree, marking the site of the old Stone house at Gowanus, where an important engagement between the British and Americans was fought. The Americans, although inferior in numbers, dislodged the British troops from the old Stone house, which was used as a fort, and as a result Washington was able to cross the East river with his army, thus saving the patriots from utter annihilation and virtually deciding the country's fate.

The old Stone house of Gowanus is not visible now and very few of the present generation know anything about it. The plot where it stands was very low—much lower than the surrounding places—and it became a dumping ground. As a result the historic house has been buried by 16 feet of earth. A willow tree which stood at the entrance to the old house was also buried, but from its branches rose another willow tree, which is still standing, and it is because of this tree that the movement to uncover the old house and erect a lasting monument to the defenders of the country who fell there has received such an impetus.

Mr. Higgins, who, although of Irish extraction, is an ardent American patriot, was touched by the survival of the old willow and looked upon it as a mute appeal to those now living to remember the men who fought and died that the country might become free forever. His attention was called to the spot by a book written by Miss Frazer in which she gives the history of the old Stone house at Gowanus. Miss Frazer's attention was first called to the house by a painting executed by Louis Grube in 1846 at the order of George Anderson, her granduncle. Miss Frazer spent her girlhood at the home of her uncle, Thomas Easton of Newport, R. I., to whom the painting had been sent, and she took a great interest in the picture and the story attached to it.

At a dinner given recently by the Prospect Heights' Citizens' association at which Mayor Gaynor, who is a neighbor, was present, Mr. Higgins aroused the enthusiasm of the gathering by his appeal for the restoration of the old Stone house and the consecration of the plot surrounding it to the memory of the revolutionary heroes who fell there.

He said it was a patriotic shame that the historic spot should have been neglected so long. Mayor Gaynor, Borough President Steers and other officials who were at the dinner let it be known that they were in favor of the restoration of the old Stone house, and the board of estimate is expected to make an appropriation for the purpose in the near future.

Miss Frazer, who is very modest about her connection with the matter, told a reporter how she came to discover the site of the old Stone house. "After much research," said she, "I found a bronze tablet that had been erected many years ago on the front of the two-story brick house that stands at the corner of Fifth avenue and Third street. It was almost hidden by grime, and in the shadow of the 'L.' It contains this inscription under a picture of a battle field:

"Here on the 27th of August, 1776, 250 out of 400 brave Maryland soldiers under the command of Lord Stirling were killed in combat with British troops under Lord Cornwallis."

"I found that the old Stone house around which the battle was fought, and which was also called the Cortelyou house, had been buried under 16 feet of earth, nobody knowing that it was famous 75 years before the battle of Long Island was fought in and around it. It was built in 1699 by Nicholas Vechte, a Dutch colonist, and in 1799 it passed to the Cortelyous, the price being $12,500. In 1846 the Litchfields, who now own it, bought the property from the Cortelyous. It stood on the banks of a brook emptying into Gowanus creek, 15 or 20 feet below the present street level, and was famous as the largest and most substantial house on Long Island at the time.

"The spot became a city dumping ground, and in 1846 only the upper part of it was visible. Some one took away the iron brace that supported the roof and the roof fell in. Gradually it was covered up entirely, but I believe that when it is unearthed the lower portion of the house will be found in a good state of preservation."

CHARLES A. KENNEDY.

The following extracts are from the Clinton Gazette relative to the death of C. A. Kennedy, father of Ascher Kennedy, of this city:

Mr. Kennedy's death occurred May 26, at San Angelo, Texas, where he had been for his health since last July. The remains, accompanied by members of his family, arrived here Sunday at 10:40 a. m., and the funeral was conducted at 2 o'clock in the afternoon from the residence of Mr. Joe W. Bennett, a lifelong friend of the deceased. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Waters, of Greenfield, Tenn., and the Woodmen of the World had charge of the interment, Mr. Kennedy being a charter member of the Wingo camp. Consul Commander Beadles and a number of Sovereigns from that and other camps were present and assisted Oak Camp of Clinton in the burial rites.

There was a large concourse of people at the funeral, a number coming from Wingo, Hickman, Fulton and other places around. Mr. Kennedy's sisters, Mrs. Mattie Warren and Mrs. Alice Combs, of Hardin, Ky.; his brother, H. V. Kennedy, of Murray, and his nephew, W. W. Jones, of Hardin, were present; also his son, Ascher Kennedy and wife, and relatives of Mrs. Ascher Kennedy, from Hickman.

Mr. Kennedy was married three times, his last wife and one son, Wendell, surviving him, besides three children of his first marriage, Ascher and Bernard and Mrs. John Walker, the latter of Wingo.

Mr. Kennedy was in his 52d year, and was a native of Marshall county. He came with his father to Wingo in his boyhood, and afterwards taught school in this county. In 1890 he was elected county school superintendent of this county, and served until 1898. Probably a year after he retired from office he went to Wingo and became a successful business man there. In July last year he moved to Texas in the hope of benefitting his health. He engaged in business at Riviera and was doing nicely when stricken down with the illness which caused his death.

Hugh Ed Curlin was here from Union City, Tuesday.

The taxes due the state from Fulton county, including the recent raise is $23,842.

Miss Leah Barry has procured a position as assistant bookkeeper with the lumber firm of W. A. Dodds.

About fifty Hickmanites attended the dedication services of Mt. Zion Church last Sunday. The attendance is estimated at from 500 to 800. The good people of that neighborhood eclipsed all former efforts in the dinner served, and those who attended say it was the most sumptuous feast they ever saw. A request was sent out through the local newspapers asking that no autos be driven to the church that day, and the automobilists heeded. Not one was seen. The day was ideal and the crowd enjoyed the services and hospitality of old Mt. Zion.

The B. A. F. Club, of State Line, will entertain at the home of Miss L. G. Wilson Clark, Wednesday evening, June 8th. 150 handsome invitations have been mailed to their friends, indicating that this will be one of the swellest social events of the season at this little city. The members of this club are Misses Lucile Rice, Wilson Clark, Lillian Clay, Myrtle Saunders, Fauchon Brasfield, Linnie Threlkeld, Lassie Curlin, Lottie Linder, Alline Roper and Mary Burrus.

Bill Johnson (not our livery stable Bill nor a relative of Sheriff Johnson) was arrested last Friday by county officers on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was released with out being fined because he is the next thing to blind. A man with two good eyes can't have much fun here now, and his release was nothing more than right. Johnson is watchman for the Mengel Box Co. His hilarity on this occasion consisted of pulling the trigger of a .44 and throwing hot lead too promiscuously.

TWO NEW TRUSTEES.

An election of school trustees was held in this city Wednesday, resulting in the election of E. D. Johnson and R. L. Bradley as new members of the board, taking the place of C. L. Walker and J. R. Brown. The vote was as follows:

E. D. Johnson, 124.
 C. G. Schlenker, 111.
 R. L. Bradley, 72.
 J. R. Brown, 70.

Mr. Walker refused to allow his name to be placed on the ticket for re-election and Mr. Brown was beaten by a very small margin. Both of the out-going members were good ones, and the new ones coming in will be good men for the place. They will serve three years.

The Board is now composed of W. C. Johnson, W. A. Johnston, Tom Dillon Sr., Julian Choate, Marion Provow, Judge J. W. Cowgill, E. D. Johnson, C. G. Schlenker and R. L. Bradley.

MASONS HAVE BANQUET.

Hickman Lodge No. 761, F. & A. M., treated its membership to a banquet and smoker last Monday evening at the Masonic hall. The attendance was unusually large, strange to say and all stayed for the spread, consisting of barbecued mutton, cold drinks, etc. Several gentlemen won out in the endurance contest by a close finish, but Dr. Hubbard was awarded the leather medal.

Among other things, this body agitated and discussed the building of a new hall. The move was heartily endorsed by all present. Should the proposition be carried out, the new quarters will contain reading rooms, club rooms, dance hall, etc., all of which are certainly needed in this city.

Mrs. P. C. Ward and children, of Walnut Log, visited here this week.

Lee Atwill who is attending school at Lexington, returned home Monday.

The Ministers' and Members' Meeting of the West Kentucky Baptist Association met at Moscow this week.

Miss Nellie Harris left for her home in Paris, Tenn., this morning after a short visit to her brother, Ode Harris.

On account of Children's Day exercises there will be no preaching at the Methodist church at the morning hour but regular services will be held in the evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Jim Ringo, colored, lost his residence, one mile above town, Monday afternoon by fire, which started from a defective flue. Jim carried no insurance and the house and contents were a complete loss, amounting to about $500.

Percy Jones, always hustling, doing something new, has responded to the demand for late lunches, etc., and hereafter his cafe will be open day and night. The man who happens to come in as late as mid-night with a "hungry chill" will find the latch string hanging out at Jones' Cafe and an exhaustless quantity of good things to refresh the inner man.

The school election held in this city yesterday, was as usual, unknown to many of the voters, and the small vote polled is a sad commentary on the interest taken in this matter by our citizens. The few notices tacked up on telephone poles, announcing the coming election and torn down by wind and rain a few hours afterward, are a "light under a bushel" so far as the good they do. In remote country districts, where there are no newspapers and this is the only means of informing the public, the law prescribes well. But in cities, where there is no end of horse bills, starch signs, killumquick pill placards, etc., dangling from all poles and fences, the average citizen does not look here for election notices, but rather to his newspaper. Hereafter there will be no excuse on the part of the Board for not making these elections public. If they feel too hard up to pay for such notice in the Courier, we will gladly donate the space in the interest of education. This does not mean we are not getting good men on the board, but such practice will sooner or later offer opportunities to the "dark horse" who would sacrifice principle for mercenary gain and then, too, every voter in entitled to this information. It will create a greater interest in school work.

NOTHING DOING HERE.

The John B. Gordon Chapter U. D. C., has completed final arrangements with the management of The Great J. Frank Hatch Shows to bring their monster aggregation to Union City for a week's engagement for their benefit May 30th to June 4th inclusive.—Union City News-Banner.

The meetings held on last Thursday night and on Monday night following to arrange for a Fourth of July celebration in Union City resulted in the creation of a fund amounting to nearly eight hundred dollars.—Union City Commercial.

This calls to mind the fact that Hickman has less doing in the way of amusement than any other town her size in the world.

Too many of our business men think of nothing but the almighty dollar—they don't want to lose a day's time for recreation or gala days.

But, after all, the time and money spent in entertaining the populace occasionally is a good investment. It may be a fair, a gun shoot, a carnival, horse show, circus, 4th of July celebration—it doesn't matter—what ever brings a crowd brings new business to that town following the event. All that is in sight this year in the way of amusements in a gun shoot. S. L. Dodds alone deserves credit for getting up this feature. He is wide-awake to the good of such things, and we need a few more fellows of his type.

This old dope about certain things "carrying off all the money," is all hog-wash. If people can't come to Hickman to spend it, they are going to some other town. You can't keep people from seeking amusement. Hundreds of dollars will leave Hickman July 4th on account of the enterprise of some of our neighboring cities, while her tight-wads will sit at home and twirl their thumbs. Yet you couldn't drive this idea into the heads of some with a maul and glut. They are content to sit beneath the Upas tree's shade and bathe their spirit in the soothing old adage "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

What we need is a few wideawake fellows on the head of things who will not tread lightly for fear of waking the sleeper. Push and aggressiveness will get results; there are hundreds of opportunities for better things in Hickman and surrounding country that are waiting development.

It might be of interest to our readers to know that failure to give the assessor the correct number of dogs you possess is liable to cost you a fine of $25. Auditor James has notified Sheriff Johnson to see that every dog in the county is assessed. Failure to give them in will be taken up by state authorities. The state also says that the sheriff need not hunt up the man who owes dog tax, but that said man must come and pay the officer. Another fine is prescribed if you fail to do this. As a whole, it looks like dogs are getting to be a poor investment.

MADE PROMISE OF SECRECY

Therefore Caller Could Only Guess Who Had Taught Youngster to Stand on His Head.

"The venerable countess of Cardigan, the author, you know, of that wicked book of memoirs, thinks the modern girl is too athletic and hoydenish," said an English visitor to New York.

"The countess of Cardigan often tells of a young man who was drinking tea with a beautiful girl when her little brother slipped into the room.

"Mr. Mannering," the boy asked, "can you stand on your head?"

"No, said the visitor laughing, 'I don't believe I can.'

"Well, I can," said the boy. "Look here."

"And he stood on his head, very neatly in the corner.

"Ha, ha!" laughed Mr. Mannering. "And who taught you that?"

"The urchin frowned.

"Sister," he said, "told me I must never tell."

It Made No Difference.

Congressman Ransdale of Louisiana, recently told a story of Alec Trimble, the valet and factotum of a physician in New Orleans, who took a fancy to one of the summer shirts of his master, and finally went and bought one exactly like it. He showed it to his mistress, who said that he had done wrong, as the two shirts might get mixed in the washing; and Alec answered:

"It'd make no difference, missus, 'cause dey's both alike 'a size an' price."

They Surely Would.

A little American boy with his father was visiting a market in a Mexican city. He saw a little native girl with a small basketful of red peppers, of which she was eating one. His father was about to say: "She thinks she is very smart," as the son called his attention to it. The boy spoke up quickly, knowing what was to be said: "Pa, would those red peppers make you smart if you eat all of them?" His father replied: "Yes, son."

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Boy In Knickers a Wireless Wonder

WASHINGTON.—Grave, gray-bearded members of the United States senate committee on commerce listened recently with respectful attention to the arguments of a 13-year-old boy in knickerbockers whose head barely topped the table which separated him and his dignified auditors.

The youthful orator was William E. D. Stokes, Jr., of New York, and his theme was wireless telegraphy and telephony. He is president of the Junior Wireless Club of America, Ltd., and he is opposed to certain features of the Depew bill, which provides for government regulation of wireless telegraphy.

Master Stokes said the members of his organization were amateur wireless telegraphers, all of tender years. He told the committee that the boys favored a nominal license fee for wireless operators, the license to be revocable for "malpractice."

The boy lobbyist's voice was youthful, but his words were those of a grown man and a scientist and his hearers smiled broadly at hearing him roll fluently from his tongue the polysyllabic technical terms of his craft. However, they paid respectful attention to his arguments and appeared impressed by what he said.

When he had finished his argument against the bill the boy turned prophet. He said that in ten years it would be possible for persons on land to communicate with distant points by wireless.

"If a man has an automobile breakdown 25 miles from home, ten years from now," he said, "all he will have to do will be to take out his wireless kit, call up his butler and tell him he will not come home to dinner."

Master Stokes also informed the members of the committee that foreign nations were far ahead of the United States in the development of wireless telegraphy and blamed the era of wireless stock exploitation this country has experienced. He said there were between 25,000 and 40,000 boys in the United States interested in wireless telegraphy and expressed the belief that their experiments would prove of great value to the nation in the future.

Young Stokes is the son of the proprietor of the Ansonia apartment hotel in New York, and will be remembered as the first person to devise a receiving box for the interception of wireless telephone and telegraph messages.

This device was perfected in September, 1908, on the roof of his father's hotel. It was the result of long and secret experiments in which the boy was unaided. When his invention was examined by wireless experts they pronounced him an electrical prodigy.

Animals In Kitchen Peril to Health

INSECTS play a large part as mechanical carriers of disease and none is worse than the common house fly, yet it is allowed to infest meat exposed for sale, bread and sweetmeats, berries, the edge of the milk pail and the food on the kitchen table.

The keynote of cleanliness is especially sounded with respect to keeping pet animals in the kitchen. The fur of the cleanest of them must come in contact with many things which we would not care to have touch our food.

This information is imparted in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture, prepared under the supervision of the office of experiment stations. It is entitled, "Care of Food in the Home," and is for free distribution. Its author, Mrs. Mary Hinman Abel, has advanced many new ideas and called attention to many simple house methods that make for cleanliness and wholesomeness of foods in the home.

One of the most important suggestions is that in regard to ptomaine poisoning. On this subject the author says:

"Food may become dangerous even before it shows outward signs of decomposition and the danger hardly be recognized without laboratory apparatus. It is no uncommon thing to hear that a large number of persons attending a banquet were taken violently ill within a few hours. These cases of wholesale poisoning generally occur in summer after a heated term. It is a safe rule to eat sparingly of foods liable to changes in hot weather and where the serving of a large number at one time brings a strain on the culinary forces, when material is certain to be served which has been prepared a considerable time in advance."

Mrs. Abel thinks ordinary kitchen methods fall short of today's requirements, especially with respect to sanitary science. The old fashioned hatred for dirt is not enough. This applies especially with respect to the cleaning of kitchen utensils. For instance, boiling has long been known to kill whatever was the cause of "spoiling" food. However, most housekeepers did not "boil out" the milk cans, etc., but simply scalded them.

Smoke as They Discuss Tobacco's Harm

WITH smoke curling from their vari-colored cigars, heart specialists from throughout the country who recently attended the congress of American physicians and surgeons gathered in Washington to discuss whether the prolonged and excessive use of tobacco meant "sudden death." At the close of a lengthy debate they were far from reaching an agreement as to what was the real effect of the use of tobacco on the heart.

Dr. H. L. Eisner of Syracuse, N. Y., introduced the subject by discussing the influence of tobacco on hypertension in the circulatory system. Smoking in moderate amount by grown persons might not be injurious, he said, but he expressed a belief that smoking was injurious to those who had hereditary heart afflictions.

Dr. Judson Daland of Philadelphia

told of a family of four whose parents had died of causes other than angina pectoris. Three of the brothers, cigar manufacturers, who were compelled to smoke more than 20 cigars a day, developed angina pectoris, while a sister at the age of 52 never had suffered from the disease.

So far the anti-tobacco men had had the floor. Dr. R. G. Curtin of Philadelphia rose to stem the tide. He told of 60 cases of angina pectoris, in which seven of them were in female subjects.

"Women commonly do not use tobacco," said he, "although I hear recently they are taking it up."

He pointed to Japan, "where boys begin to smoke at nine and girls at ten, and where angina pectoris is not common," to prove that tobacco did not cause the disease. He said it might aggravate the disease but not cause it. So might the mind, for that matter, he said. He told of an Episcopal bishop who always had an attack of angina pectoris when he drove up hill and of another patient who was accustomed to have an attack of this disease when he ran for a street car.

Taft In Quandary; His Cook Has Quit

TO be the White House cook and prepare the food for the president, his family and guests is an honor, but to be the bride of an Irish policeman detailed for duty at the executive mansion has proved more attractive to Martha Peterson, who has resigned.

Now when Martha decided to become the wife of Policeman Mulvey she thought of her cousin in Sweden, who she says is a better cook than herself. So she recommended her cousin to the president as the chef. The president was considering the advisability of having Mrs. Mulvey's cousin to come over to Washington to do the White House cooking when the question arose: Is Swedish cooking an American industry to a great enough extent to demand protection under the contract labor law?

Foolish question No. 667,766! No, not at all, but the chances are it will be a mighty serious question with the honorable the attorney general of the United States and the honorable the solicitor general, ditto, ditto, to say nothing of the president of the same place, who needs the cook.

Just how serious are the intentions of the president toward his former cook's relative in Sweden time alone will divulge, but labor union officials are not so reserved: They, through Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, cannot understand how the president can even consider the importation of a cook from Sweden.

Mr. Morrison said he could not go into the details of the affair, because he did not know them, but he said the president ought to know all about the law and ought not to think of doing such a thing. The contract labor law is plain and its provisions are not to be evaded.

STOOD WHERE SHE WAS PUT

Wife Obeyed Orders to the Letter, But Unfortunately Workmen Moved Post Hole.

In a western state workmen began to dig a post hole for an electric light in front of a Dutchman's dwelling, when the master forbade them to continue. After some discussion the Dutchman bade his wife stand on a large, flat slate with which he covered the hole. "Now, Gretchen," he said, "dat ish where you stands till I comes back mit ein enjunction." The solid frau stood there like a statue, her hands on her hips. When the husband disappeared, the leader of the workmen ordered the slate, with the frau on it, to be removed. With perfect politeness the lady was set on one side as if she had been a fat teapot on a salver. The Dutch wife stood like Casablanca, but the hole was well in its place when the householder returned with the injunction. He was overcome with astonishment and wrath. "Vy vas you not stood on dat hole?" he demanded of his wife. "It was on 'dis stone dat you vas puts me," she answered. He looked at her in helpless indignation a moment, and then cried: "I vas not mean dat you stand on dat stone ven dat hole was carried away!"—Christian Register.

Wedding Fee Counterfeit.

A well-dressed stranger entered the office of Justice William B. Williams, Montclair, N. J., and after shaking hands astonished the justice by saying: "I'm here to redeem that counterfeit $10 bill I passed on you. Two years ago I called on you with my girl and two witnesses and you married us. I handed you a $10 bill. I had a counterfeit in my pocketbook that I'd carried for several years. I never missed it until yesterday. Then I remembered that I'd accidentally handed you the bill." The caller produced a good $10 bill, but the justice refused to take it. "Don't let that worry you, my dear fellow," he laughed. "I never knew it was a counterfeit. No kind of money sticks to me over night. I'm married, myself."

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

Very Fleehy.

She was a fisherman's daughter, she wore her hair in a net, and she preferred love in a piscatorial way.

"My love," he whispered, "you hold first 'place' in my heart! Although I 'founder' about in expressing myself, my 'sole' wish is that you will save me from becoming a 'crabbed' old bachelor. I shall stick to you closer than a 'limpet,' from you a 'wink'll' be the road to guide me. Together we will 'skate' over life's 'rocks,' and when I look at your hand beside me I shall say to myself: 'Fortune was mine when I put 'herring' there!'"

And then the lady dropped her eyes in sweet confusion, and murmured: "Pass the salt."

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irassburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irassburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The Valuable Match.

There was a loud splash, and a moment later a dripping head appeared above the waves. On the end of the dock was a steevedore nonchalantly lighting his pipe.

"Help, man!" cried the chap in the water. "Can't you see I am overboard? I can't swim."

"How often have you been down?" asked the steevedore, shielding the flickering match from the wind.

"Once, I believe, but hurry up, man! Give me a hand!"

SOUTH'S POSSIBILITIES

CAN BE MADE GREATEST CORN PRODUCING SECTION.

Presence of the Boll Weevil is Driving Southern Cotton Planters to Diversification.

Washington.—That the South can be made the greatest corn producing section of the United States and that the presence of the boll weevil in certain cotton growing sections is driving the farmers to intensive and diversified farming, which, with crop reform methods, will result in a new and better era for the agricultural South, were the significant statements made by Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, chief of the division of farmers' co-operative demonstration work, department of agriculture.

The fact that a boy in South Carolina produced 152½ bushels of corn to the acre, when the average yield throughout the state was only sixteen bushels to the acre, was cited by Dr. Knapp as physical proof of the possibilities of corn production in the Southern states by the improved methods of cultivation by the department of agriculture in Virginia. He said 900 acres under the improved demonstration methods had yielded an average of forty-one bushels of corn to the acre. In Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas, he said, results similarly significant had been achieved, and it is the opinion of Dr. Knapp that the Southern states can be made to yield an average of forty-five bushels of corn to the acre. This increased production depends upon the application of improved methods of soil cultivation and attention.

Dr. Knapp said the special work to be conducted by his bureau in the states of Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Alabama and Tennessee related to the extermination of the cotton boll weevil, which he seriously regards as having been instrumental in bringing about reforms in farming that will greatly increase the revenue to be derived from the Southern farms.

The invasion by the boll weevil and the apparent intention of the little pest to make his stay indefinite, has caused planters to diversify their crops and to farm generally along intensive lines.

SPITZER SAYS HE'S A FOOL

Hesitated to Give Evidence "Leading to Cemetery."

New York.—Oliver Spitzer, former superintendent of the docks of the American Sugar Refining Company in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, who recently was pardoned from the penitentiary by President Taft, explained Wednesday why he did not confess during the trial, which ended last February with his being sentenced to two years at Atlanta.

Such a confession, he declared on the stand, would have carried him to a cemetery. In other words, he would have implicated a dead man—Henry O. Havemeyer, head of the sugar trust.

"Why did you not tell the truth in the first place?" he was asked.

"Every time I look in a mirror, I see a d-d fool," was the answer. "I was a fool not to do it, but was ashamed to let any one know that I did these things. My credit was good. I could get anything and I did not want people to know that I was fool enough to do these things for nothing. I got nothing out of it."

"Another reason why I committed TWO P COL—Thursday . . . H . . . perjury was because I thought nothing could happen to the sugar trust. We all thought the trust was so strong that the government could do nothing with it."

A MINISTER'S CONSTIPATION

Rev. Kemp Tells of His Digestive Troubles and How He Overcame Them—You Can Do So Free.

The lack of exercise in a minister's life makes him very prone to constipation—but for that matter, most everybody is constipated now and then. It is the national disorder.

Many already know that a sure way to cure constipation and other stomach, liver and bowel troubles is with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which church people have been buying for twenty years.

Rev. R. A. Kemp of Rising Sun, Ind., Secretary of the Indiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, says in part:

"For years I have been a victim of constipation but I have never found anything to equal Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I also had indigestion and heart trouble. I can certainly recommend it."

It can be bought of any druggist at 50 cents or $1 a bottle. If there is anything about your case that you don't understand, write to the doctor. If you have never used this remedy and would like to try it, send your address and a free sample bottle will be forwarded to your home. Address Dr. W. B. For the Critics.

Creston, Clark, whose untimely death at Asheville robbed America of a serious and capable actor, was somewhat impatient of criticism. To a Philadelphia critic he once said:

"You chaps are unwilling to accept a man for what he is. You want to change him to your own taste. But each of you has a different taste. To whose inclination, then, is he to bend?"

NOT INTERESTED IN TOADS.

But Exasperated Suburbanite Was Forced to Listen to Statistics Until Patience Gave Way.

"Toads—" began the man who is always looking up queer statistics. "Blast the toads!" snapped the suburbanite with the ham, the bag of flour and the lawn mower. "I am not interested in toads."

"But you should be, sir. The toad lays 81,000 eggs annually."

"Very extraordinary, but—"

"The female toad also lives to be a thousand years old. Now, if a hen could live to be a thousand years old and lay 81,000 eggs annually it would take a cold-storage warehouse as big as Maine, California and Texas, to hold them."

"Wonderful, but my train—"

"Stood on end the eggs would reach from here to the moon and back and leave enough to fill the Pacific ocean."

"Let go of my buttonhole, sir. I want to make that train—"

"Useless job. The train is already made. Listen to sense. After those eggs filled the Pacific ocean it would cause a tidal wave that would sweep—"

But just then the exasperated suburbanite brought his bag of flour down on the garrulous stranger. Then he escaped to his train.

Willing to Pay for Rammer.

When the British square at the battle of Abu Klea, in the Nubian desert, was penetrated by the dervishes, one of them attempted to spear a gunner who was in the act of ramming home a charge. The Briton brained the Sudanese, but the rammer head split on the man's hard skull. Next day the gunner was sent for. Mistaking the reason, and knowing from experience that soldiers are charged for government property which they break, he led off with: "Please, sir, I'm very sorry I broke the rammer, but I never thought the fellow's head could be so hard. I'll pay for the rammer so as to hear no more of the case."

The Man Invasion.

The witch out for a moonlight jaunt on her favorite broomstick, had just escaped being run down by an aeroplane manned by a joy-rider.

"Oh, this is simply maddening!" she cried, hysterically; "to think of man invading the one field of which we women have had a monopoly for centuries! And I believe I heard the brute say, as he passed: 'Oh, you kid witch!'"

The Quoter.

"You never quote poetry in your speeches?"

"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "quoting poetry is too often like sending an anonymous letter. A man resorts to it when he wants to say something and shift the responsibility of authorship."

Old Men in Responsibility.

The American business system, which gives mere boys responsible positions before they have acquired practical experience, is to an Englishman quite unaccountable. He wonders whether it does not cause reckless trading and wild speculation. In other countries they prefer to keep elderly men in responsible positions because they can be depended upon. Messrs. Dyke & Sons, Somerset, England, employ 66 men. More than half have completed 30 years' service, 20 have been there 40 years, nine over 50 years and one 70 years.

Suffered Misery

"I suffered miserably," writes Mrs. Mattie L. Bishop, of Waverly, Va. "Very often I would have to go to bed until it wore off. Everything I ate made me miserable and I could not even wash the dishes after a meal. My husband begged me to try CARDUI, but I had tried so many medicines I didn't want to. However, for his sake I tried CARDUI and before I had taken one bottle I felt all right. I can now do all my work and recommend CARDUI to every woman."

God Knows.

There are graves in southern valleys where the sweet magnolia blooms,
Where the birds sing in the morning o'er the soldier's lonely tomb;
There are graves on northern hill-sides lapped in the winter's snow,
Who are the lonely sleepers, but God alone may know.

It may be your blue-eyed darling, oh, mother with snowy hair,
Who marched at his country's calling, so young, so brave, so fair;
In the flush of his glad young manhood, he left you long ago,
If he be the lonely sleeper, there is none but God may know.

Oh wife that mourned the lost one through all those lonely years,
Whose heart is weary waiting, whose eyes are dimmed with tears,
It may be the one that left you to bravely meet the foe
In the valley or on the hillside there is none but God may know.

We only know that they are sleeping, our brave and gallant dead;
Unnamed their places of slumber, no stone at foot or head
To tell the weary watcher whether this be friend or foe,
Who sleeps the sleep that knows no waking, but God alone man know.

Then bring the fresh, sweet blossoms, oh mothers with hearts still sore
O'er the loss of the blue-eyed darling whose footfall is heard no more;
Though thy hands may scatter the blossoms upon a stranger's breast
Some hand and some heart as tender may deck thy darling's place of rest.

Yea, scatter the fresh spring flowers alike o'er each lowly head;
Little, indeed, to us it recketh, who are the silent dead,
Asleep 'neath Magnolia blossoms or lapped 'neath northern snows,
Let our hearts breathe the glad thanksgiving, thank God, our Father knows.

A Southern Woman's Tribute to Heroes Both Blue and Gray.

It was just a bunch of white roses, but the ribbons that tied it together told its history—one was blue and the other was gray. It was to be placed on the grave of a boy who had fought for what he believed was right and the gentlewoman who was to put it there believed that all animosity had passed by, and the blue and the gray might be firm friends. So the bunch she carried for her own boy's grave was tied up in this way and in her hand was another one tied the same; it was to be laid upon the grave of a stranger. That stranger whose name was even unknown to her, had died fighting like a brave man, and therefore deserved to be remembered and to have tribute shown to his courage. We think it a beautiful idea—this one of decorating the graves of all the soldiers, but we like it better when the custom is carried even further, and when not a grave in the cemetery is overlooked.

It seems to us a goodly and proper thing for the living to remember the dead, at least once a year, and it seems a kind and loving thing to mark this remembrance with sweet flowers. As a people, we are not very emotional, and if there is any way in which we can bring our kind-

The kidney secretions were far too frequent in passage and I had to get up some nights as often as seven times. In the morning I felt tired and little like doing the day's work. I tried any number of remedies and doctored but to no avail. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and getting a supply at Heim & Ellison's Drug Store, I began taking them. The contents of three boxes of this remedy restored my kidneys to a normal condition and improved my health."

ness to the surface, it should be done, and so the encouragement of the day sacred to the memory of those who have gone before is worth of much consideration. Decoration Day must essentially be one entirely free from any feeling but that of generosity and loving kindness. It does not make any difference which side a man fought on—he died for what he believed was right, and for that reason he deserves to be remembered by those who are living. Decoration Day ought to mean the union of the gray and the blue; there ought to be a flag for that purpose for the colors blend so beautifully that the result is exactly the tint of heaven itself. We wonder if you despise all the funeral trappings—if you wish more respect shown to yourself dead than you might possibly demand alive—and when the long years have gone by, you would not like somebody one year to place a flower on your grave, to show that you were still in touch with humanity. No matter who it is; if it is the woman whose life was soiled, if it is the man whose death was shameful, or if it was the soldier who was fighting for his country, just remember that not one of them can defend themselves now, and that neither of us can judge them.

Start out to make God's acre beautiful; take the crimson roses of love, the white ones of innocence, the lavender heliotrope of devotion the blue forget-me-nots of never dying memory the lilies of purity, and strewing them all about here, there and everywhere, make the day one of absolute union—union of hearts, union of feeling and union of remembrance. That is what Decoration Day should be.

And all those soldiers who lie sleeping, those who fought not only on the battle ground of dispute, but in the greater one of life, will, when the trumpet call rings out its summons on the great Judgment day, each stand before the Great Commander, ready to answer the questions put to him. And be sure he will not ask his neighbor, "Did you wear the blue or the gray?" But, instead, he will say: "Brother, we have fought the good fight and may God, in His infinite mercy, judge us."—B. A. B.

The man or woman who accomplishes some worthy object—however humble it may be—for the pleasure of so doing, reaps the full enjoyment of life.

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irassburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irassburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.
